ALBANY, July 11.-Supreme Court Justice Warren B. Hooker is at last to break his silence regarding the charges upon which his removal from office is asked. Beside calling a dozen witnesses in his behalf, Justice Hooker is to go on the stand and submit to cross-examination. His will probably wind up the testimony. Among the witnesses Justice Hooker has subposnaed are the Justices associated with him in the Brooklyn Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, with the exception of Justice Woodward, who hails from the same county as Justice Hooker-Chautauqua. These Justices are to testify to the ability. integrity and uprightness of Mr. Hooker as a Justice, and the suggestion is made that their testimony will be irrelevant, for the reason that no act of Mr. Hooker as a Justice is questioned in the charges. The other witnesses subpænaed are in connection with the Wirtner judgment, in which it is charged by the Assembly Judiciary Committee that Justice Hooker perverted a brother Justice into signing what was practically a fraudulent judgment roll and which Justice White demanded should be set aside a couple of years after he had signed it. To-day about half of the testimony taken before the Assembly Judiciary Committee last winter in the Hooker case was read to the members of the Legislature in joint Judge Hooker's counsel to-night think that all the testimony can be put in and the summing up of counsel completed this week, in which event the Legislature may adjourn until next Tuesday, when the members will come back and vote upon the resolution removing Justice Hooker.

The ends to which the friends of Justice Hooker will go were revealed to-day when an attempt was made to throttle the lower house. An alleged majority of one was discovered by the clerk of the Assembly to carry a point which Speaker Samuel Frederick Nixon, Majority Leader Rogers and other leaders of the lower house wanted to help out their friend Hooker.

It was on the motion to non-concur in the Senate amendment to Rule 5A of the rules of procedure. This provides that nothing but evidence that would be admitted in a court of record shall be admitted at the hearing of Justice Hooker. By the adoption of that rule the most important evidence could be forced out. This relates to the correspondence on file in the Post Office Department. The department has refused to permit the Legislature to have the originals of this evidence, and will not attest the copies.

The rule had been adopted by the Senate. The first Assembly roll call showed a macrity of two against concurring. Assemblyman Thompson of Niagara, and of Niagara Falls power bill fame, sat in front of Assemblyman Jesse Phillips, who comes from Hooker's Congress district. Mr. Phillips went to the clerk's desk and ascer-tained that two votes were needed. Then he got at Assemblyman Thompson. Al-though he said to Mr. Phillips, "I don't like to do it," Thompson changed his vote. Assemblyman J. T. Smith of Dutchess Assemblyman J. I. Smith of Dutchess was besieged by Assemblyman Wainwright of Westchester and Majority Leader Rogers and Mr. Smith changed his vote.

Mr. Wainwright has congressional aspirations, and his leader, National Committeeman William L. Ward, is a friend of Justice Hocker and a member of the Tanawarm. Hooker and a member of the Tapeworm Club. All the Westchester members are voting on every proposition to save Justice

After Mr. Smith had changed his vote, ol. Baxter announced the vote as being: Majority Leader Rogers announced that e rule was of no consequence, as Judge ocker's counsel had declared they would not object to any of the evidence

When Assemblyman Larue tried to speak during the roll call Mr. Rogers gave instructions to Mr. Apgar to shut him off. He failed to do so, however, and Mr. Larue said: "If the majority leader has so much faith in the counsel for Justice Hooker, why doesn't he get a written stipu-lation from them that they will consent to the introduction of this evidence?"

Mr. Rogers was silent. After the Senate amendment to the plan procedure was declared concurred in of procedure was declared concurred in Justice Hooker and his counsel and the members of the Senate filed into the Assembly chamber and the joint session was convened by Lieut.-Gov. Bruce.

At the table with Judge Coman, counsel for the Legislature, sat George I. Lawyer of Albany, representing the State Bar Association; Wallace MacFarlane, the New York City Bar Association; William B. Hurd, Jr., the Brooklyn Bar Association, and Frank W. Stevens, the Jamestown Bar Association.

Mr. Stanchfield at once submitted a type written document challenging the right of the members of the Assembly Judiciary Committee to sit in the joint session and vote on the Hooker matter, on the ground that they already had reached a conclusion on the charges and were biased. It was promptly overruled by the Lieutenantpromptly overruled by the Lieutenant-

When he began to read the documentary evidence secured from the Post Office Department, which, it was feared, will be ruled out, there was much craning of necks and opening of ears to hear an ob-jection from Justice Hooker's attorney, but none was made. This evidence re-lated to the correspondence Justice Hooker lated to the correspondence Justice Hooker had concerning the appointments to the Fredonia post office. In one letter which he wrote to Beaver he said: "Thanking you for the many good things you have thrown in my way."

The Assembly chamber was so warm that several marriers wished to sit in their several members wished to sit in their shirt sleeves and removed their coats, but SEVENTH'S TEAM AS HOSTS. Defeated Riflemen Entertain Their Suc cessful English Opponents.

CHARLES E. MATTHEWS,

Because every piece of Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 11.-The rifle team of the Seventh New York Regiment, which took part in the contest for the cup given by Col. Vincent of the Westminster Volunteers, gave a farewell reception to-night at the Grand Hotel in honor of the Westminster Volunteers and the other hosts who had entertained them during their stay in England. A large number of Americans attended. Hilarity and good fellowship formed the keynote of the reception, which was informal. It was prolonged until a late hour.

During the evening Capt. McClean telegraphed to King Edward, again thanking him for his gracious reception, which "has been reflected through every minute of our visit to the old country," and assuring his Majesty that the Americans, although unsuccessful in their contest for the cup, departed with feelings of real affection for the British

The King replied that it had given him much satisfaction to receive the message and that he was very glad to hear that the team had enjoyed their visit. He thanked Capt. McClean for his kind expressions concerning him and the British people.

Several informal speeches were made, the speakers dwelling on the good comradeship that had been manifested and recognizing that the match had been fair and square. Capt. McClean said that the team had determined not to leave without giving the Westminsters substantial evidence of their appreciation of the kindness showered on them, and pointing to the regimental flag that was occupying the place of honor alongside the national flags, he said: "We are going to leave that testimony for the Westminsters." This evoked wild applause.

In conversation the individual members of the team showed that they keenly enjoyed their visit. They received many invitations that their engagements compelled them to decline. On Sunday the team will march with a brigade of the Guards to service at the Guards' chapel. Afterward they will dine at the Guards' Club as guests of the British officers. As the Guards are the premier infantry of the army and their officers aristocrats and notoriously exclusive, the invitation to dine is felt to be a special compliment. The sergeants of the Westminsters have presented to each visitor a gold badge on which are engraved the Westminsters arms.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. Moscow, July 11.-While a number of persons were presenting petitions to-day to Count Schuvaloff, the Prefect of Police, one of them shot him three times, killing him. The murderer was arrested. The assassin had remained in the waiting room till the other petitioners had been received. Then, entering the audience hall, he fired at close quarters, the bullets passing through Count Schuvaloff's body. The prisoner has not been identified yet.

an enemy. The assassin is about 30 years old. He had a passport, which was probably forged, representing him to be a citizen of Kursk. His identity is unknown. The doctors say the bullets he used were poisoned. One struck an official by the name of Scheider

LONDON, July 12.- The motive for the assassination of Count Schuvaloff cannot be traced. The estimates of his character given by the different correspondents do not agree, but his known high culture, his devotion to his duty as he conceived it, and above all the qualities he inherited from his eminent father call more attention to his murder than is paid to many of the ordinary Russian assassinations.

-The Moscow correspondent of the Standard save that the audience had been in progress some time. A man was volubly detailing his complaint to the Prefect, when an individual immediately behind passed his hand around the back of the petitioner and fired three shots in rapid succession. The first shot struck Count Schuval off in the upper part of the left arm and the second lodged in the region of his heart. The Prefect staggered and fell into the arms of an orderly, whose white tunio was stained with his blood. The third shot wounded a clerk in the leg.

Among the first arrivals at the house the Count was Grand Duchess Elizabeth, widow of Grand Duke Sergius, who was recently assassinated. She spent the day with the bereaved family, attended two services for the dead, and only left late in the evening. On Sunday Count Schuvaloff received the British Consul, who was going away on leave of absence, and assured him in the most positive terms that the tranquillity of Moscow was perfectly guaranteed. He scouted the idea of any outbreaks of disorder.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, July 11 .- The Nashadgin describes the ruin of Odessa by the rioters as irreparable. It places the losses at at least 40,000,000 rubles. destruction of factories, &c. Other ports are unable to take Odessa's place as an export center, and the necessity for exporting by means of roundabout routes must handicap Russia's competition in the European markets with America.

CHINA APPEALS TO POWERS. Wants to Take Part in the Coming Peace Conference

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. Paris, July 11.-China has addressed a note to the French Government similar to the notes she has already addressed to the Japanese and Russian Governments. > PEACE WITHOUT INDEMNITY. Russian Paper Says There Is Hope of Making Terms on That Basis.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, July 11.-The Slovo says it has learned from most reliable sources that at a conference of leading Russian statesmen it was recognized that it was possible to conclude peace with Japan exclusively on the basis of territorial concessions and agreements without the payment of an indemnity. The Slovo adds that, according to private information, the English and American Governments expect peace to be concluded on this basis. The Czar is described as being surprised at and exercised over the continuance of Japanese activity, as shown by their invasion of Sakhalin Island.

Ambassador Meyer had an interview with Foreign Minister Lamsdorf this afternoon. Officials at the Foreign Office express the opinion that the Slovo's article is based merely upon society conjectures.

GRAPE-NUTS.

WANTED TO SLEEP Curious That a Tired Preacher Should Have Such Desire

A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him. "You will doubtless understand how the suffering with indigestion with which used to be troubled made my work an almost unendurable burden, and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow till nearly daylight.

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me.

"Six months have elapsed since I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and the benefits I have derived from it are very definite I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table. I find that by eating a dish of it after my Sabbath work is done (and I always do so now) my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are ensured me. I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on our table-we feel that we need it to complete the meal-and our children will eat Grape-Nuts when they cannot be persuaded to touch anything els?."
